About the National Association of Professional Geriatric Care Managers (GCM)

GCM was formed in 1984 to advance dignified care for the elderly and their families in the United States. The association currently boasts a membership of 1,900 care managers.

Geriatric care managers are professionals who have extensive training and experience working with older people and families who need assistance with care giving issues. GCMs help families cope with the growing challenges of aging, and assist families in the search for a suitable nursing home placement or extended care if the need occurs. The practice of geriatric care management and the role of care providers have captured a national spotlight, as generations of Baby Boomers age in the United States and abroad.
